Family Medicine Postgraduate Program

POSITION VACANCY

Program Director - Sport & Exercise Medicine, R3 Enhanced Skills Program

The Postgraduate Program of the Department of Family Practice, University of British Columbia, invites applications from Family Physicians for the position of Program Director for Sport and Exercise Medicine, with the R3 Enhanced Skills Residency Program.

The Allan McGavin Sports Medicine Centre at the University of British Columbia offers a primary care sports and exercise medicine year of training. This is a comprehensive training program to create expertise in the assessment, management and ultimately prevention of sport and exercise concerns. The endpoint is the creation of community leaders in this relatively new area of medicine. There is 1 position per year. The Program is fully accredited by the College of Family Physicians of Canada.

Applicants should be a Certificant of the College of Family Physicians of Canada, and be licensed or eligible for licensure with the College of Physicians and Surgeons of BC. Educational and administrative experiences in residency training are preferred.

The successful candidate will have a proven record of leadership, excellent communication and interpersonal skills, as well as a vision and commitment to building the capacity of UBC to train physicians for family practice.

The position involves supervision of training, including curriculum development, evaluation and mentoring of residents for one year of residency training. It is anticipated that the position will require the equivalent of approximately 0.1 FTE (1/2 day per week). The Program Director is assisted by an administrative staff.

For a more detailed job description, please contact Lindsay Gowland (contact below).

Interested individuals should submit their letter of application, curriculum vitae, and the names and addresses of three referees to:

Dr Diana Chang, Program Director, R3 Enhanced Skills Program
c/o Lindsay Gowland – R3 Enhanced Skills Coordinator
Department of Family Medicine
Suite 300, 5950 University Boulevard
Vancouver, BC V6T 1Z3
lindsay.gowland@familymed.ubc.ca
604 822 0869

Application deadline: posting will be open until position is filled